—A New Name. The publishers of the Southern Magazine have decided to change the name of that valuable monthly, to the Mid-Continent Magazine.

—The publishers, in making the change, are prompted by the belief that a publication to serve any part of a country must, essentially, should not have even the semblance of sectionalism.

—A "reference to the fact that a literature of any country is a national literature, and that a strictly literary medium should represent that literature." The name "Southern" Magazine, they thought, was prejudicially local.

—This act is in accord with a suggestion of the Climax in response to an invitation of the publishers at the time publication was resumed last winter.

—We believe that the only obstacle is now removed, which stood in the way of a successful career for this fine, average periodical. We heartily commend it to our readers North and South as being first-class in every respect.

—A Judgment For $50,000 Against the Long-Haired "Messiah" of Rockford. A jury in Judge Dunning's court Tuesday at Chicago, awarded George W. Cudrey a judgment for $50,000 damages against Jacob Schwendler, the alleged "Messiah" of Rockford, Ill.

—Judge charged that the defendant, alleged "Messiah," had defrauded Mrs. Cudrey's affections from her husband by inducing her to enter his "heaven."

—The jury returned a verdict awarding the full amount asked for. The jury was but a few minutes in reaching the verdict. Schwendler's people say he has no money to meet the judgment.

—If Jacob should take into his head to come to Kentucky the boys would be ready to fight him for his troubles. His life would be worth saving. Of all the frauds it has ever been told to read of, this fellow takes the cake. The people of Illinois are certainly loath to allow his institution to flourish. There must surely be some law for putting a stop to his vagaries. Come over Jake, make a visit here in the Blue Grass.

—Loan Association Attacked. The Building and Loan Association Committee of the Illinois House tonight adopted a resolution offered by Representative Lowenthal, to investigate the Interstate Building and Loan Association of Chicago.

—The committee, Mr. Lowenthal addressed the committee at length regarding the Association's condition. He explained that the President of the Association, Allen E. Stevenson, Vice President of the United States, was in the habit of receiving $200 a month in payment for his services as attorney.

—He also spoke of alleged illegal methods of raising money in the form of stock. The total amount alleged to have been illegally paid by the association during its existence was said to be $1,000,000. The resolution recites many instances of alleged violations of the statute in making loans.

—He alleges that the association is maintaining in Chicago an expensive office and agent at a large salary, and that the income from the business of this office does not equal twenty-five per cent of the expenses incurred.

—T. J. Dunn, Secretary of the association, who was present, was invited to make a statement. He admitted that the facts regarding money paid Vice President Stevenson and his partner, Mr. Ewing, were true with substantially the other charges made by Mr. Lowenthal. The association, he said, was solvent to the extent of over $500,000.

—He justified the payment of money to Vice President Stevenson and his partner by a clause in the association's charter, permitting the association to employ any one needed to perform whatever was in its interests. He admitted that Mr. Stevenson, during the period of nine months when he was drawing a monthly salary of $200, had performed no actual services.

—After the committee adjourned Mr. Dunn said that Vice President Stevenson never drew any salary from the Association. His law partner, Mr. Ewing, drew a salary for a while as attorney, and Dunn supposed that part of the money paid to Stevenson went to Mr. Stevenson.

—Here the Explanation. We explain that when Ephraim Lillard, of Jessamine county, pulled the plug in the office of Ben Johnson, Collector of Internal Revenue, Louisville District, that the results ran in many directions.

—Seeking a solution of why Ben should come up in Collector Roddey's district to get a man for the place when there were at least a thousand men in his own district that were eagerly looking for the situation.

—When Ben Johnson, Collector of Internal Revenue for the Louisville District, went out of his way and appointed Ephraim Lillard, of Jessamine county, as Collector Roddey's Internal Revenue, and Congressman McCrory's District Income Tax Collector, it sounded a sensation and a large party was immediately smelt.

—It was a rank movement on the part of Senator Blackburn, who inspired the appointment, against the Senate aspirations of Hon. James B. McCrory. Lillard is expected to nominate and elect a Blackburn man to the Legislature.

—Since, enough, out comes Mr. Perry, a Blackburn man, against Mr. Wallace, the McCrory candidate, and Ephraim is joined to his side. It will be one of the hottest contests in the State, but the indications are that Wallace will win. McCrory cannot afford to have it otherwise. The fact, and "tuff" will fly particularly the "stiff." They are "tuff" on Mr. Wallace, but he who shall last cry "tuff" enough.

—"Enough" is an unknown word in the bright lexicon of politics.

—I got "Eph" Lillard today and asked him how he was getting along collecting over $1,000 incomes for $150 a month.

—"I got 'Eph' Lillard today and asked him how he was getting along collecting over $1,000 incomes for $150 a month."

that city with an income of $81,000—pretty fair for these parts."

There is one man in this, Collector Roddey's district, who will pay on a $20,000 income, less the $3,000 exemption, but it is an inheritance and he will be let off light, if not altogether next year. —Chas. E. Kincaid in Commercial Gazette.

A Militia Company. A letter has been received at the Climax office from J. Emory Allen, Major 2d Regiment K. S. G., in which the writer states that there is still another opportunity for Richmond to obtain a Militia Company if organized in a short time.

Who, if any of our citizens are interested sufficiently in this matter to take it up and push an organization to completion. There is a great abundance of young men who would delight in belonging to a military company. Call and see the letter at once, if in any way interested.

Obituaries. On the morning of April 10th, Mr. Silas Green, an old and most highly respected citizen died at 104 of pneumonia, aged 81 years.
